Correspondent Tells of Bills Before The Senate and House

WHERE THE MONEY GOES

Explanation of Various Departments—Governor Refuses Uncle Sam's Assistance in Road Building.

Harrisburg, June 16.—The high water mark in Pennsylvania legislative extravagance is being reached in these closing days of the memorable 1913 session. Economy apparently is a word not to be found in the lawmakers' lexicon. The general appropriation bill, carrying approximately $41,949,300, was reported out before the members of the House quit last week, and was ordered printed. The amount involved is the largest ever embraced in a bill before the Pennsylvania Legislature. Some idea of the wanton waste of the people's money is gained by a careful scrutiny of the items making up the bill.

John R. K. Scott, the insurgent Republican member of the House from Philadelphia, has performed a useful service to the people of Pennsylvania by exposing some of the most glaring instances of appropriation abuses. Scott has been a thorn in the side of the administration throughout this session. He has the advantage of an intimate personal knowledge of the "ways that are dark and tricks that are vain" of the Machine, for he trained with it faithfully for years. Whatever Mr. Scott's motives may be in his present attitude, he must be given full credit for the good work he is doing in directing attention to matters which the people who foot the bills have been too prone to view with indifference and lethargy.

An effort to turn over $20,000 of the state's money to a private "jag cure" establishment was one of the revelations of the week.

A fight led by Representative Scott resulted in the postponement of action on a bill to appropriate $53,000 to the Punxsutawney Hospital in Jefferson County. Punxsutawney is the home town of Chairman North of the Appropriation Committee, which explains the liberality of the proposed largesse. It is stated that the hospital maintains 34 beds, that it had asked for $28,000 and that the State Board of Charities recommended only $19,800. Yet by reason of North's Chairmanship of the Appropriation Committee it is proposed to give this hospital nearly twice the amount it asked for.

Where the Money Goes
Reports of department heads show a studied effort to disguise the actual purposes for which state money is asked.

For instance, the Agricultural Department admits that of the $30,000 feed stuff appropriation it wants $25,885.75 for salaries and expenses of agents. Then $1,895 is needed for supplies, chemicals and apparatus and $1,425 for postage stamps, leaving $795 out of the $30,000 for feed stuff.

The same apparent effort to conceal salaries is shown in the Agricultural Department's request for an appropriation of $7,000 for Paris green. On information being demanded the head of the department admits that only $200 of this amount is needed for Paris green and that the balance will be used for the salaries and expenses of agents. The Agricultural Department also asks for $57,000 for the enforcement of the commercial fertilizer act and endeavors to illustrate the justice of this appropriation by the expenditure of the 1911 appropriation of $45,650 for the same purpose as follows: For salaries and traveling expenses, $45,182; for cost of prosecutions, $112 18.

Thus it is shown that in this one department, out of a total of $94,000 asked for "feed stuffs, Paris green and the enforcement of the commercial fertilizer act" less than $1,500 is actually to be used for the purposes specified and more than $75,000 is to be expended in "agents' salaries and expenses."

There Are Others
The Attorney General explains the necessity of $50,000 for "special attorney fees" by showing that he is now holding bills from special attorneys, amounting in total to $850. Added to this the Attorney General expects to receive from attorneys employed in two other cases bills which may amount to as much as $500.

The Department of Fisheries "to need $10,000 for counsel for the purification of the waters of the Commonwealth." But the berland commissioner and the Water commissioner also ask appropriation for the same purpose. Is it signed for three separate departments to employ three separate sets of "purify the waters of monwealth?"

The department of Forestry expects the enormous increase of 10,000 in 1907 to $250,000. It asked this year for la-

$3.50 RECIPE FREE, FOR WEAK MEN

Send Name and Address Today—You Can Have It Free and Be Strong and Vigorous.

I have in my possession a prescription for nervous debility, lack of vigor, weakened manhood, falling memory and lame back, brought on by excesses, unnatural drains, or the follies of youth, that has cured so many worn and nervous men right in their own homes—without any additional help or medicine—that I think every man who wishes to regain his manly power and virility, quickly and quietly, should have a copy. So I have determined to send a copy of the prescription free of charge, in a plain, ordinary sealed envelope to any man who will write me for it.

This prescription comes from a physician who has made a special study of men and I am convinced it is the surest-acting combination for the cure of deficient manhood and vigor failure ever put together. I think I owe it to my fellow man to send them a copy in confidence so that any man anywhere who is weak and discouraged with repeated failures may stop drugging himself with harmful patent medicines, secure what I believe is the quickest-acting restorative, upbuilding, SPOT-TOUCHING remedy ever devised, and so cure himself at home quietly and quickly. Just drop me a line like this: Dr. A. P. Robinson, 3334 Oak Building, Detroit, Mich. and I will send you a copy of this splendid recipe in a plain ordinary envelope free of charge. A great many doctors would charge $3.00 to $5.00 for merely writing out a prescription like this—but I send it entirely free. Adv.

bor, is due to the increased cost of labor. The department's labor appropriation in 1911 was $100,000. The honest workingman must be enjoying unusual prosperity, if connected with the Forestry Department, to account for more than doubling the cost of his wages in two years.

Why all this subterfuge and beating about the bush?

The House's Surrender

The House, which has shown occasional trends toward economy and independence, appears to be losing its grip on both of these virtues as the day for final adjournment draws near. The House confessed that its consideration for the outcome of progressive legislation now in the hands of the Senate was second to consideration of its own comfort when it finally surrendered to the reactionary upper chamber and adopted a resolution to adjourn June 26th. It is conceded on all sides that this action probably sounds the doom of the workmen's compensation, primary election, tax reforms and other important bills that passed the House. If any of these are permitted to become laws, by grace of the Senate, they will be in such form as to make their value to the people of exceedingly doubtful value. The House's surrender was not accomplished without the earnest protest of such leaders as J. Lowry Humes, Democrat, John R. K. Scott, insurgent Republican, Speaker Alker and others. The members who voted for adjournment knowing that such action must inevitably result in the sacrifice of much of the legislation for which they have been fighting, will have to take the responsibility for their action upon their own shoulders and answer to their constituents.

Tener Turns Down Uncle Sam

It has developed that the ardor of Governor John K. Tener for road building does not extend to a matter of highway construction in which the National government would have a part and experts from the United States engineering service would be on the job.

More than a month ago Postmaster General Burleson apprised our "Bond Issue" Governor that the federal government had made provision to co-operate with one of the three Middle Atlantic States, either Pennsylvania, New Jersey or New York, in highway construction to the extent of a Federal appropriation of $100,000, and invited Pennsylvania to join in, adding $200,000, the total amount to be used toward the improvement or construction of roads in Pennsylvania on which one or more rural deliveries are in operation. After ignoring the Federal Government's offer for a month, Governor Tener finally answered, following Senator Penrose's recent visit to the State Capitol, declining to co-operate.

Governor Tener evidently prefers to confine his good roads activities where there will be no governmental supervision, notwithstanding that roads built by the National Government are regarded as models of highway construction, and the state could not fail to profit from the financial and technical assistance offered by Uncle Sam.

New Charity Bill Reported

After it was too late to be effective this year, the House Committee which has been "pickling" the Humes Democratic measure to appropriate state funds to hospitals and charitable institutions upon a systematic basis, reported the measure out. This is the bill which, if enacted, would prevent the nauseous scandal in the distribution now in its heyday. This bill was prepared by the Democratic legislative committee and presented in the House by Representative Humes of Crawford County, Democratic floor leader, early in the session. Humes has been fighting for several months to get action on the measure, but the committee refused to let it out. If it had been reported soon after introduction the appropriations this year would have been made under its provisions. The measure requires institutions asking state aid to make quarterly reports to the State Board of Charities.

The distribution of state money is to be made on the basis of $2.25 per day for each day of free treatment. All donations and contributions for maintenance and operation and all revenues from endowments and investments of any kind, are to be charged against the cost of maintaining free and part-pay patients, and the difference, if any, will be paid by the state.

Frost Effects

Specimens of branches of fruit trees being sent by mail to State Zoologist H. A. Surface at Harrisburg, at the present time show more injury by frost effects than by any other cause or combination of causes. All such twigs show that the leaves have turned dark or brown, and have shriveled or become colored, and the fruit is dwarfed or rudimentary. It looks very much like the disease commonly called Fire blight or Black blight, but it differs from this in the fact that the leaves are not so dark in color, but shriveled and wrinkled, and the wood is not so dark. Also in the frost injury the line between the injured and living wood is not sharply marked, whereas in blight injury there is generally a sharply marked line between the dead and the live bark.

There is a universal complaint, not only over Pennsylvania but over most of the States of the Union, to the effect that injury by the freezing of May 10th was unusually severe. One gentleman in York County reported that he expected a crop of five thousand bushels, but under the circumstances, lost the entire crop, and will not have a peck of apples in his orchard. Many have reported more or less injury in their orchards, while some of the advanced fruit growers, who have pruned and sprayed and kept their trees vigorous, will have two-thirds of a regular crop. This means, of course, improved quality of fruits because of the reduced numbers.

Frost injury demands no special attention on the part of the grower further than keeping the trees in good condition, so that they will out-grow. It is not blight, and will not change to blight. It does not continue to infect and injure the trees, as does blight. A twig that is blighted retains the germs of the disease within the wood and bark, and these germs will live to continue to work downward beneath the bark and extend the blight. While it is not necessary to cut off and burn twigs injured by frost, it is advisable to thus treat those that were damaged by blight. The chief reason for failure in the control of blight is that persons pruning trees infected with this disease have not pruned low enough to remove it. It is not sufficient to cut it out at the line between the living and dead wood. The cut should be made at least one foot below the lower limit of the blighted area. If this is done and the pruning knife or shears sterilized frequently, as by passing through a hot flame such as is made by burning a handful of straw or paper, and the stump or stub is also washed with an antiseptic solution or painted, the parts containing the blight germs can be removed, and the disease can be effectively checked.

Genius and Appetite

"Men of genius are almost uniformly large eaters," says Dr. Hanover. "They require a tremendous amount of good, wholesome food, for long continued and exhaustive intellectual work demands full nutrition to repair the waste brain tissue."

"Scott is said to have attributed his tremendous capacity to his power of digestion and the good, wholesome restraints of appetite in his youth. "Most of the French leaders, in war, politics and literature, were men whose digestions were powerful and appetites unfulfilling." Napoleon's capacity to eat was enormous, as was Talleyrand's and Mirabeau's. German statesmen and poets seem to have had the same reputation, for Bismarck and Goethe were both of them noted for their insatiable desire for food."—Chicago Tribune.

Official Cats

Nowadays there do not appear to be any human rat catchers on the establishment of the civil service, but some government offices maintain cats for this work. At the general postoffice, for example, there is a staff of cats charged with the duty of protecting his majesty's mails from rats. In return they are provided, out of the public purse, with free board and lodging. The staff of the Deptford victualing yard includes cats. In France cats are specially trained for government employment. To fit them for service among military stores they are at first sent for one or two voyages on a warship. If they prove equal to killing the rats always found in the holds of large ships, they are promoted to a shore billet.—London Standard.

Properly Trained

The topic that was being talked in Washington the other evening related to the proper training of children, which reminded Congressman Oscar Calloway of Texas of an incident that occurred in one of the small towns in his state.

For the fifth time, the Congressman said, a colored boy was arrested on a charge of appropriating chickens, and the magistrate decided to try an appeal to the lad's father.

"Look here, Rastus," said the magistrate, when the father appeared in court, "this is the fifth time that your son Ebenezer has been in this court, and I am tired of seeing him here."

"I don't blame yo', Judge," responded the father, a little sadly. "I've tired ob seeing him here myself."

"Then why don't you teach him how to act?" demanded the magistrate. "Why don't you show him the right way?"

"Say, Judge," earnestly replied the father, "I hab done gone an' show dat boy de right way a dozen times, but somehow he allus git caught wid de chickens on him."

July Woman's Home Companion

As a part of its fight for "Better Babies" the Woman's Home Companion publishes in its July number an able editorial showing how the United States is spending $17,000,000 a year for better farms and only $30,000 a year for "Better Babies." The $17,000,000 item refers, of course, to the expenditures of the Department of Agriculture, and the $30,000 item has to do with the Children's Bureau in Washington which, with Miss Julia C. Lathrop in charge, is supposed to investigate and report on all matters pertaining to the welfare of children and child life in the United States. On the subject of "Better Babies" there is published in addition to the editorial referred to above, an article entitled "Better Babies in the South" which contains an interesting report of some remarkable work done in Louisiana by Mrs. Frank De Garmo.

Other notable articles contributed to the July Companion are: "New Ways to Take a Vacation;" "The World's Greatest Lovers;" "Good Ideas for the Summer Traveler;" "For Baby in Warm Weather;" "The Spirit of the Garden;" "Travels by Way of Books;" and "Improving Your Tennis."

Fiction of absorbing interest and reality is contributed by Mary Hastings Bradley, Mary Heaton Vorse, Juliet Wilbur Tompkins, Viola Burhans and Maude Radford Warren.

Art features of special beauty and value are included, and the regular Cooking, Fashion, Household and Young Peoples' Departments are full of good things.

HECKERMAN LETTER

P-Nut Salesman Visits Natural Bridge in Kentucky.

Natural Bridge, Ky., June 16. This is my first visit to this wonderful place. 'Tis 133 miles from Cincinnati, in the wild and rugged mountains of this world renowned state. The route is a very attractive one, skirting for miles the banks of the Licking River, winding hither and thither as does the river, then it leaves the river and branches off through the eastern portion of the world's famous blue grass section.

There are a number of natural bridges that I know of and one natural tunnel, but this is one of the greater natural wonders of America. A huge arch, over a hundred feet in the clear, supported by immense abutments forms the bridge. The centre of the arch is forty feet thick and between fifty and sixty feet wide at the top. One has from the top of this nature's wonder a magnificent view of the mountains. The natural beauties make this region one of the most attractive play grounds for one and all. A large lake fronting along the grounds is well stocked with bass. Some persons fish here; sell their catch and then go to the place they have sold their fish and help eat them. Five miles from the bridge is a hotel where they can accommodate 100 or more guests.

Harvest is on here and one sees wheat and rye shocks all about the train, as it goes whizzing along. These are not as numerous the they generally are. 'Tis said that during the month of May the wheat crop of this state deteriorated very much. I don't know why, save that the drought during the early part of the month did the injury. Corn looks well. Farmers, as a rule, are behind with their work. The Burley tobacco crop has been planted and one, as he rides along, can see the farm hands watering the plants, for it is very dry down this way and clouds of dust arise, as the man, the mule and cultivator go joggling through the long corn rows. Cut worms, they tell me, are doing much harm to the transplanted crop. The potato crop is up to the average and the new ones are coming in to market. The alfalfa crop this year I am told will be the largest ever in Kentucky. Pastures are good and the cattle fat. I saw fifteen head a few days ago that averaged fourteen hundred and twenty pounds.

I recently saw a beautiful black horse. Balking? Yes, he was the worst I ever saw. Those interested would bite his ear; twist his tail and beat him with a fence stake and all to no avail. After all these had been tried, with no avail, a negro began singing, "Green grows the grass where me Mary Hek." Well the horse became quiet and walked off after Jim as he sang.

This showed to me that music is a great pacifier, as well as one of the greatest elevators. It is possible that man has always been moved by music. Yes back to the time when Mother Eve hummed her own composition to her first baby. Music is an aid to digestion beyond all question. If it is good music it puts you into a happy frame of mind, which greatly aids digestion. Why each five and ten cent store in the land has today a piano and hires some one to play it. By so doing, the owner invites all in the store to stay longer and those on the outside to come in, believing that the sight creates the appetite and the music is the great invite. Whilst the sight of so many wonderful things for so little money creates the appetite, music is to blame for all.

"Hear the redbird sweetly calling To his mate off in the wood. All the feathered things a singing; God is good. Yes God is good."

Yours truly,

M. P. Heckerman.

Family Pride

"Prisoner, have you anything to say why the sentence of death should not be passed upon you?"
"A few words, your honor. I am thirty years of age."

"Well?"

"It may sound so, your honor, but it means life or death to me. I understand that you take great pride in the phenomenal success of your brother?"

"I do, but what possible bearing can that have upon your case?"

"Simply this: Your brother, the doctor, examined me a year ago and predicted that I would live at least twenty years more. It would certainly undermine his reputation as a scientist should I die before that time."

A Severe Sickness Leaves The Kidneys Weak

After recovering from a severe spell of sickness some time ago, I was all run down and suffering from poor blood. I would have pains in my back and hips and my kidneys bothered me all the time. I started taking Swamp-Root upon the recommendation of a friend and found it was just what I needed. My blood became all right and after taking a few bottles, I was surprised at the effect it had on my kidneys. They were entirely cured and I have much to be thankful for what your great remedy did for me.

THOUSANDS OF POSTMASTERS MAY LOSE JOBS

According to an executive order issued by President Wilson, practically all Fourth-Class Postmasters will be compelled to take a Civil Service examination to determine whether they may continue to hold their offices. These examinations will be open to all other applicants who may want the postmastership.

Appointments of Fourth-Class Postmasters will hereafter be for life. The man who gets the job this time will have it as long as he lives.

A Fourth-Class Postmastership pays as high as $1,000 a year, with Money Order and Registry Fees extra, but it is worth several times that amount to any merchant. The entire population served by the Post Office and its Rural Routes comes into his store to transact business. Thousands of dollars of additional trade can thus be secured.

If you have the Post Office, you can't afford to lose it. If you don't have the Post Office, NOW is your chance to get it. The office will go to the man passing the best examination, and he can hold it for the rest of his life.

For over 10 years the International Correspondence Schools have been preparing men and women to successfully pass Civil Service Examinations. The I. C. S. Course for Fourth-Class Postmasters will give you just the information you need to successfully pass this examination.

Fill in and mail the attached coupon—it won't obligate you in the least—and the I. C. S. will explain how they can qualify you to successfully pass this examination for Fourth-Class Postmaster and secure your Post Office for life. Mark the Coupon—NOW.

LOCK SPEED

Lock speed is a big element of success in making high scores at the trap or in the field.

When you pull the trigger you want it to go with lightning speed. Flying birds and targets will not wait for a hang fire load or a slow lock. Our lock was carefully and scientifically timed at the University of Cornell.

Test was made by means of the fly wheel traveling 877.175 inches per second. By means of a special device it was found that the fly wheel traveled .533 inches while hammer was falling. Dividing .533 by 877.175 gives the time it took hammer to fall .00118 or expressed in fractional form 1/842 of a second.

When hammer struck it was traveling 233 inches per second.

We figure that this greased lightning speed will increase your score at least 5 per cent. The slower the lock and the slower the load the further you have to lead your birds.

HUNTERS' LICENSE

Such report and remittance to be made and done by said justice of the peace within twenty-four hours after the issuance of said license by him. Whereupon said county treasurer shall make a record of, and otherwise treat, said license as though it had been issued from his office, except that he shall also note upon his record the name of the justice issuing the license. Every justice of the peace shall deliver the book or books from which he has issued licenses, together with the stubs therein properly filled out and showing the names of each licensee and the number of the license issued to him, to the treasurer of his county during the month of January of each year.

Section 5. Any citizen of the United States, resident within this Commonwealth, who shall, excepting in defense of person or property, attempt through the use of a gun or mechanical device, before described in this act, to hunt for, or to take or wound or kill, any of the wild birds or animals protected by the laws of this Commonwealth, without first being possessed of a "Resident Hunter's License," lawfully issued to him in his name, shall be liable to a penalty of twenty dollars for each offense; and each day upon which said gun or device is used shall be considered a separate and distinct offense. Provided: That nothing in this act shall be construed to prevent any citizen of the United States, residing within this Commonwealth from having a gun in his home, or from using such gun in defense of either person or property; or from shooting at targets; or from hunting for or shooting at, in any place in this Commonwealth, anything not protected by the laws of this Commonwealth; or to prevent any bona fide owner or any bona fide lessee of lands within this Commonwealth, or any member of the family of such owner or lessee, such person being a citizen of the United States, residing upon and cultivating lands in this Commonwealth, from hunting thereon, or by and with the consent of the owner thereof, from hunting upon the lands immediately adjacent and connected with his own lands, without securing the license provided for by this act; it being distinctly understood that no right is conveyed by this act to hunt upon either private or public property in this Commonwealth, contrary to the wishes of those who may own or control such property.

Section 6. For the purpose of this act, the fact that any person shall be found in possession of a gun, or of a mechanical device of any description possessing the power to propel with force a leaden or metal bullet or pellet, either in the field, in the forests or on the waters of this Commonwealth, shall be considered prima facie evidence that such person is hunting; and shall render him liable to display his license tag as aforesaid, and to show his "Resident Hunter's License" to any officer of this Commonwealth, whose duty it is to protect the game and wild birds of the Commonwealth, or, upon demand by the owner or the lessee or by the employee or representatives of such owner or lessee, upon whose lands such person may be found in this Commonwealth; and for refusing or neglecting to comply with such request, such person, neglecting or refusing to display his license tag, as aforesaid, and exhibit his "Resident Hunter's License," shall, upon conviction, be liable to a penalty of twenty dollars; and the fact that any person may be found upon the highways of this Commonwealth, in possession of a gun and the dead body of any bird or animal protected by the laws of this Commonwealth, shall be considered prima facie evidence that such person is hunting; and such person, upon demand made by any officer of the Commonwealth whose duty it is to protect the wild birds of the state, shall be required to display his license tag, as aforesaid, and exhibit his "Resident Hunter's License," and for refusing to do so shall, upon conviction, be liable to a penalty of twenty dollars: Provided, That in all cases of arrest for violation of any of the provisions of this act, except where the dead body of any game bird or animal is found in possession of the accused, the affidavit of any person, charged with such violation, denying the charge made, shall, in every instance, over balance what is termed "prima facie evidence" in any of the provisions of this act; and that all penalties collected shall be paid into the State Treasury, to be applied to the purposes otherwise provided for in this act.

Section 7. Each and every county treasurer of this Commonwealth shall keep in a book, to be supplied by the Board of Game Commissioners at the cost of the Commonwealth, a correct and complete record of all "Resident Hunter's License" issued by him. Such book shall be in the form of an alphabetical index; and it shall be the duty of each county treasurer to have entered therein, at the close of each week, the name and place of residence of each individual to whom a license shall have been issued during that week; and to forward immediately to the Game Commission a complete list of licenses granted, with names and addresses of licensees and numbers of their respective license, on blanks to be furnished by the Game Commission; and this index shall be open at any reasonable hour to the inspection of any officer of the Commonwealth whose duty it is by law to protect the wild birds and game of the Commonwealth.

Section 8. Said county treasurers are herewith authorized to retain for services rendered the sum of ten cents from the amount paid by each licensee, which amount shall be full compensation for services rendered by him in each case under the provisions of this act, and shall remit all balances arising from this source, at least once a month, to the State Treasurer, for the purposes otherwise provided for in this act. Each county treasurer shall make his return to the State Treasurer upon a form to be supplied by the Board of Game Commissioners, at the cost of the Commonwealth, and shall in every instance forward a duplicate of such report to the Secretary of the Board of Game Commissioners at Harrisburg.

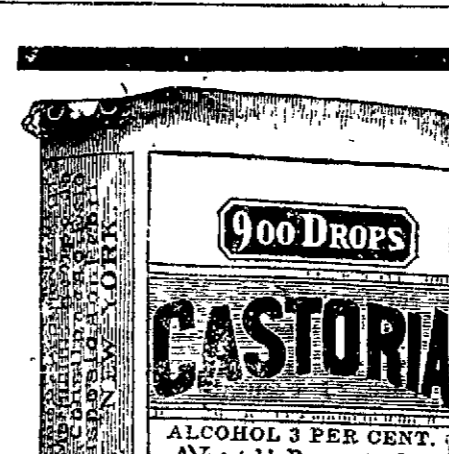

Section 9. Any officer of the Commonwealth whose duty it is to protect the wild birds or game of the Commonwealth or to preserve the peace of the Commonwealth shall have the right to arrest, without warrant, any person caught in the act of violating any provision of this act, or in a pursuit immediately following such violation; and to seize all guns, shooting paraphernalia, dogs, boats, decoys, or other appliances used in violation of any provision of this act; also, all wild birds or animals, game or otherwise, found either in possession or under control of the suspected person within this Commonwealth. All birds and animals, or parts thereof, not classed as game in this Commonwealth, thus seized, shall be held subject to the order of the Board of Game Commissioners. All guns, boats, decoys, dogs, game, and shooting paraphernalia, seized when such arrest is made, shall be held subject to the determination of the proceedings instituted; and, where the party accused is convicted, all game seized shall be forfeited to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and as soon as may be shall be forwarded to the most convenient hospital, for the use of the sick or injured therein. All guns, boats, decoys, dogs, and shooting paraphernalia of every description, thus seized, shall be held subject to the payment of the penalty imposed and the costs of prosecution; and, unless security be given as required by section thirteen of this act, all such seized guns, boats, decoys, dogs, and shooting paraphernalia shall be sold at public auction, after advertising the same five days, by at least five public handbills, conspicuously posted in the city, borough, or township wherein the conviction was secured. Any fine thus arising shall be applied, first, to the payment of the costs of prosecution; then, to the payment of the penalty imposed; and the remainder, if any, shall be returned to the owner of the property seized. Where game, dogs, boats, decoys, or shooting paraphernalia of any description shall be seized, and the owners thereof escape arrest, and refuse to present themselves and make claim to said property, all such game, after the lapse of three days after the seizure, shall be declared forfeited to the Commonwealth, and shall be sent to the most convenient hospital, for the purpose before indicated in this section. All guns, dogs, boats, decoys, and other shooting paraphernalia, thus seized, shall be held for a period of ten days; after which time, if the owner thereof fails to appear and defend himself against the charges made, such property of all description shall be sold, in the manner prescribed for the sale of seized property after conviction, and the fund arising from such sale be applied as in the case of the sale after conviction: Provided, That the fact that imprisonment is suffered by any person convicted of violating any provisions of this act shall not prevent the sale of guns, dogs, boats, decoys, or other shooting paraphernalia of any description, held as the property of the imprisoned party, and the application of the fund thus realized to the payment of the costs and the penalty imposed.

Section 10. Each and every person resisting arrest for violation of any of the provisions of this act, or refusing to go with an officer after an arrest has been made, or interfering with an officer of the Commonwealth in the performance of his duty under the provisions of this act, shall be liable to a penalty of one hundred dollars, which penalty when collected shall be applied as are other penalties under the provisions of this act.

Section 11. Whenever, because of the violation of any of the requirements of this act, any person shall be convicted for a first offense, and a penalty be imposed, and the defendant shall neglect or refuse to at once pay said amount, together with the costs of prosecution, in lawful money of the United States, he shall at once be committed to the common jail of the county in which the conviction is secured, for a period of one day for each dollar of penalty imposed; unless he shall enter into good sufficient recognizance to either pay the penalty and costs, within a period of ten days after the date of said conviction, or to certify the proceedings under the forms of law, or to carry the case to a higher court on appeal, under the provisions of section fourteen of article five of the Constitution and the laws of Pennsylvania relating thereto. For the second or any additional offense after the first offense the defendant shall, in addition to the penalty, prescribed for the first offense, suffer an imprisonment of one day in jail for each dollar of penalty imposed: Provided, That in every case of a conviction for violation of any of the provisions of this act, wherein the defendant suffers imprisonment in lieu of a cash payment of the penalty imposed, or fails to pay the costs of prosecution, all traps, guns, boats, decoys, shooting paraphernalia, or other appliances used in violation of the law, and found in his possession at the time of arrest or proven to have been used in violation of law, shall be and they are hereby declared forfeited to the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania; and shall be either destroyed or sold, as the Board of Game Commissioners may consider best, and the money secured through such sale shall be applied by said board, first, to the payment of the costs incurred, and the remainder, if any, be deposited with the State Treasurer, to be used for the purposes herein otherwise provided; the defendant being entitled, for the first offense only, to the credit of one day off his imprisonment for each dollar so deposited with the State Treasurer.

Section 12. All license fees collected under the provisions of this act, and all fines and penalties imposed and collected for violation of any of its provisions, shall be paid to the State Treasurer as hereinbefore designated, who shall keep the moneys thus collected as a fund separate and apart, solely for the purpose of wild bird and game protection, and for the purchase and propagation of game under the supervision of the Board of Game Commissioners of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and the payment of bounties under the provisions of law. The several purposes to which the fund, so received by the State Treasurer, shall be applied, to be clearly designated by an act of the Legislature, either in the general appropriation act or by separate appropriation for the payment of bounties. It being specifically provided that fifty per centum of any fund returned to the state through or because of the provisions of this act, or so much of said fifty per centum as may be needed, shall be applied by the Legislature at its biennial sessions to the payment of bounties at the rate of one dollar for each mink killed, two dollars for each weasel killed, two dollars for

Section 13. Each and every magistrate, justice of the peace, and alderman, within this Commonwealth, shall have the power of summary conviction in matters pertaining to violation of any of the provisions of this act. All actions for violation of any of the provisions of this act, excepting where the defendant is taken in the act of violating the law, or in a pursuit immediately following such violation, shall be commenced by affidavit made within one year after the date of such violation; and any magistrate, justice of the peace, or alderman, in this Commonwealth, on complaint made before him, by affidavit by one or more persons of a violation of any of the provisions of this act by any person, is hereby authorized and required to issue his warrant, under his hand and seal, directed to any constable, police officer, game protector, or any officer of the Commonwealth whose duty it is to protect the game and wild birds of the Commonwealth, and cause such person to be brought before him, such magistrate, justice of the peace, or alderman, who shall hear the evidence and determine the guilt or innocence of the person accused; and if such person be convicted of the offense charged, he shall be sentenced to pay the full penalty prescribed by the section violated, together with the costs of prosecution. All penalties thus recovered, in cases where the prosecutor is a salaried officer of the Commonwealth, shall be immediately surrendered by the court receiving the same to the prosecutor, who in turn, as soon as may be, shall forward or deliver such amount in full to the secretary of the Board of Game Commissioners at Harrisburg. Where any officer of the Commonwealth, other than a salaried officer, is the prosecutor, the penalty shall be, as soon as the case is fully determined before him, forwarded by such magistrate, justice of the peace, or alderman to the secretary of the Board of Game Commissioners at Harrisburg, together with a statement of the cause for which such money shall have been collected, the cost of which statement is hereby fixed at fifty cents and made a part of the costs of prosecution; and it shall be the duty of said secretary of the Board of Game Commissioners to at least once a month make return of moneys thus collected to the State Treasurer, to be applied to the purposes otherwise provided for in this act. Each and every defendant convicted on appeal before any court of this Commonwealth shall be sentenced to pay the penalty imposed by the section violated, or to undergo imprisonment in the common jail of the county for one day for each dollar of penalty imposed and unpaid: Provided, That any person charged with violating any provision of this act may sign an acknowledgment of the offense committed, either before or after the beginning of suit, and pay to any duly appointed commissioned game protector, deputy or special deputy game protector, the penalty in full, as fixed by the act, together with the costs accruing to the state to that date; and the printed receipt therefor, which shall in every instance bear the imprint of the Seal of the Board of Game Commissioners of Pennsylvania, and the signature of its secretary, shall be evidence of full satisfaction of the offense committed: Provided further, That when any person or persons are arrested for any violations of the provisions of any section of this act, the party or parties making said arrests shall immediately thereafter take, or cause to be taken, the parties so arrested to the nearest justice of the peace, magistrate, or alderman, for a hearing upon the charge upon which said person or persons were arrested.

THE COMING CHATAUQUA

On June 28 the Lincoln Chautauqua Company will erect on the public square a tent 80 by 120 feet wherein lectures, concerts, etc., may be taken advantage of by the people of Bedford and Bedford County.

This is something exceptional. Seldom does a town the size of Bedford secure such educational advantage. The lecturers and musicians are of national repute and those who can possibly attend both the afternoon and evening meetings should avail themselves of the opportunity.

THE LOBBY INVESTIGATION

The investigation being conducted by a committee of the National Legislature is revealing facts that are most startling to many citizens of the nation, who have been blindly voting for members of the lower house and for members of the State Legislatures who have been electing U. S. Senators.

It has shown that many of those who, by virtue of their office, as members of the U. S. Senate and House of Representatives are and have been financially interested in the sugar trust and other combines, some of them holding considerable stock in different trusts.

This, it is conceded, is not the class of men who should have in their power the fixing of tariff schedules that affect their private coffers.

The attitude of President Wilson toward the lobbies that have, through interested lawmakers, written and dictated tariff schedules is to be commended.

The plain people are beginning to realize conditions in the National Congress, and with the aid of a President who has their welfare at heart and that official surrounded by men of like mind, they will eventually get justice. The high cost of living will be reduced and the robber tariff will be reduced on many of the necessities of life and entirely removed from others.

A Tribute to a Worthy Man

Editor Gazette:—Permit me to express, through the columns of your paper, in behalf of the employees of the maintenance of way department of the Bedford Division of the Pennsylvania Railroad, a word of commendation for late Supervisor, Mr. J. K. Smith, Jr., who on the 16th inst. was transferred by "the powers that be" to the supervisorship of the Monongahela Division at West Brownsville Junction, Pa.

Mr. Smith was our superior officer for nearly three years. His friendship honored those who were allowed to share it. To his superiors in office he was loyal and true; to his equals, generous and courteous; to his subordinates, considerate and kind.

Mr. Smith is a man of marked intellectual vigor, conscientious in the discharge of every duty, inflexible in his adherence to the right, and I know him to have a heart of womanly tenderness. He has linked himself to the men of the Bedford Division with words of steel.

And now, in behalf of my fellow employees, I wish him a hearty God-speed wheresoever he may be called by his duty or his pleasure in the future. I beg to assure him that his way will be envied by our memories of his personality, his truth, his justice, his fairness and his courtesy to all, and by our warmest, tenderest good wishes.

TO RUN DAY AND NIGHT

We have mapped out an approximate running schedule and figuring on bad weather, poor arrangements by some relay managers, and territory over mountains and rough country, we advise you that your runners should be at their stations about 6 o'clock a. m., on Wednesday, June 25.

This is an urgent appeal to you to be sure of accurate arrangements. We are assigning no territory from this office except in a general way and where there are controversies. This determination of the extent of your division is up to you and Rev. L. K. Kiefer of Everett and Dr. E. L. Smith, Mayor of Schellsburg.

Ordinarily, the territory rule is that each town receive the message at their city limits and deliver to the limits of the next town. We are not holding to this because distances vary between points and there are greater supplies of boys in some places.

Keep in mind that you are to post the boys at their stations. You are to measure off the distances. You are to see that the boys that run are in good physical condition and deliver and return them to their homes in cases where they are posted far out on country road. If you have enough boys run them every 220 yards. And provide two or three boys for our official automobile to protect against gaps in your territory.

Each boy is to receive a bronze button commemorating the relay. We are going to conduct a sort of "train dispatchers' office" at this headquarters and will advise you 12 hours ahead of time of the exact minute when your runners should be at their stations. You will be advised by telegraph.

One of this committee or a representative will be out official car and hopes for the opportunity to thank you personally for your preparations. There will also be a press car in the entourage and you can depend on national publicity for the cooperation of your boys.

P. J. H. Farrell,
Chairman, Relay Committee.

SIXTIETH ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Boor Married Three Score Years.

Last Saturday, June 14, was celebrated the sixtieth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Boor, at the Hershberger farm, one mile south of Martinsburg.

In June 1853 this couple was united in marriage and the past 60 years have been happily spent, mostly in Bedford County, about six years being spent in Iowa, near Rock Island; they made the trip from Pennsylvania in wagons. They returned to Pennsylvania and Mr. Boor has been following various occupations in Bedford and Blair Counties ever since. Mr. Boor is a blacksmith by trade, which occupation he followed much of the time. He was also prominent in Bedford County politics, holding county offices at various times. The past ten years have been spent largely in Altoona and with their children in various parts of the state. They are well known and have many friends.

To this union were born nine children: Mrs. George Hershberger of Martinsburg, Charles of Pipers Run, Mrs. Nathaniel Clapper of Yellow Creek, James of Chicago, Mrs. James Fluke of Altoona, Mrs. Calvin Diehl of Monessen, Marie, whose spirit passed to the world beyond soon after her marriage to R. D. Brown of Bedford; Samuel of near Altoona, and Mrs. Chester Amos of Butler.

There are living 43 grandchildren and 47 great-grandchildren, many of whom attended the anniversary.

Mr. Boor is 82 years old, having one brother and one sister yet living, B. F. Boor of Bedford and Mrs. Ellen Wertz of Cumberland Valley, both of whom attended the anniversary. Mrs. Boor is 81 years of age, having a senior sister living, Mrs. Emmeline Wertz of Williamsburg, who also attended the anniversary.

During the forenoon friends and relatives gathered in the apple orchard where a large table had been erected and the forenoon was pleasantly spent in renewing old acquaintances and in various kinds of amusements. At high noon a very sumptuous dinner was served of which all present partook. Between different courses during the meal we were ably entertained with toasts, readings, addresses, and jokes by various guests, the main ones being Joe Clapper, Lillian Mock, Warren Hershberger, Nellie Mock, James Boor, Dorothy Hershberger and Mary Alice Archie.

After the dinner the afternoon was spent in various sports, consisting of young men's 100-yard dash, young ladies' 100-yard dash, fat women's race and fat men's race. Mrs. Mock won the fat women's race and George Hershberger the fat men's race; then the two champions ran for the final championship, which was won by Mrs. Mock, who in her athletic suit, tips the scales at 297 (?) lbs.

Joe Boor then danced the clog dance, which made the younger folks feel out of place to see the man of 82 years lay their graceful steps in the shade.

A liberal amount of gold, silver and greenbacks was then dropped into the coffers to cheer this couple on their way. After this many congratulations and words of good cheer were extended with the hope that we may all meet in 1928 to celebrate the 75th anniversary as the youthful appearance of these people would indicate that they are good for 15 years more.

The following persons from this county attended the celebration: Mrs. Ellen Wertz and J. N. Wertz, of Cumberland Valley; B. F. Boor, Mrs. M. W. Corie, Mrs. Margaret Diehl, Mrs. W. B. Mock and Miss Lillian Mock, of Bedford; Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Rhinoldollar, of Everett; and Mrs. S. Charles Boor, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph J. Boor and G. Harvey Boor, of Hopewell; Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel Clapper, Misses Alma and Mattie Clapper, C. S. J. H. and Horace G. Clapper, of Yellow Creek; Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Over, Cyrus and Edward Over, of Woodbury, and Edward Brown of Loysburg. A Guest.

Paint Put-On

Think of paint put-on and not by the gallon. A gallon of paint in the can is of no account to anybody. Put it on. Now reckon its cost and value.

The secret is: one paint goes twice as far as another. A good one goes twice as far as a bad one.

You have a job, say an average job. It'll take 10 gallons Devco and 12 or 15 or 18 or 20 of middling poor very-poor and trash. You know painter's wages in your town. Put the price of a gallon of paint and the painter's day-wage together. You can't win.

Devco costs less than any inferior paint; there are hundreds of them.

One paint is as good as another, so long as it lasts good; one lasts months and another years; and the one that goes furthest lasts longest.

Hughes-Gurley

Yesterday morning at St. Paul's Cathedral, Pittsburgh, with Rt. Rev. Bishop Regis Casarin officiating, the marriage of Miss Marguerite A. Gurley, daughter of Mrs. Rose Gurley of that city, and John W. Hughes of Bedford was solemnized.

The bride was given away by her uncle, G. A. K. Ahlberg, of Chicago. Her gown was of cream brocade satin with trimmings of rose point duchess lace and pearls, with long court train, a gown that was worn by her mother at her marriage. A tulle veil, arranged in cap fashion, with a bandeau of orange blossoms, fell to the long train, and her only ornament was a necklace of pearls. She carried a white prayer book with marker of lilacs of the valley and pink rose buds, given her by the Sisters of the Visitation of Mount de Chantal Academy, near Wheeling, where she was educated.

Miss Rosalie Gurley, her sister's only attendant, appeared in a pink hand-embroidered Japanese crepe gown, with a large leghorn hat trimmed with old-fashioned flowers, and carried an armful of flowers in Dresden effect. Miss Helen Flannery as ring bearer wore a white lingerie frock. Thomas Hughes served as his brother's best man. A wedding breakfast followed at which the immediate families only were present, owing to the recent death of the bride's grandfather, Jacob Friday.

Following a Northern trip Mr. and Mrs. Hughes will be at home in Pittsburgh for a short time, after which they will reside in Bedford. The bride is a graduate of the Margaret Morrison Carnegie School.

The groom is a young man held in high esteem by all who know him.

Those present at the wedding from this county were Mrs. Mary Hughes, mother of the groom, Miss Mary Hughes, a sister, Thomas and Philip Hughes, brothers, Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Hughes, uncle and aunt, and P. W. Smith and Neilson R. Horne, intimate friends.

The Gazette extends hearty congratulations.

Taylor-McLaughlin

Wednesday morning at 8:30 o'clock Miss Marguerite C. McLaughlin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. McLaughlin, of North Richard Street, was united in marriage to Joseph W. Taylor, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Taylor, of East Bellevue, by Rev. Father William E. Downes, pastor of St. Thomas' Catholic Church of this place. The attendants were Miss Marguerite Gurley of Pittsburg and John W. Hughes of Bedford. The bride wore her travelling gown of dark blue cloth, with a dark blue hat trimmed with one large blue plume.

A wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents. Covers were laid for 15 and the decorations were American beauty roses. They departed on the morning train for Pittsburgh.

The groom's parents gave a dinner of 50 covers, guests being asked to meet their son and his bride. After the dinner Mr. and Mrs. Taylor left for an eastern trip.

They will be at home to their friends after July 1, Park Avenue, Ben Avon, Pa. The bride received many beautiful and costly presents, cut glass, silverware, etc. Both are accomplished musicians.

NEW TREATMENT FOR CRIMINALS

Warden J. K. Coddling to Tell
How He Handles Prisoners.

METHODS ARE VERY NOVEL

Kansas Penitentiary Known All Over the Nation for Its Advanced Methods—Has Been Given Many Write-Ups.

Kansas leads the nation in some respects, and one of them is the method of dealing with its criminals, a method largely due to the wise plans of Warden J. K. Coddling, who is to speak at the coming Lincoln Chautauqua.

Recently there occurred at the Kansas penitentiary an incident that is almost unbelievable. Several of the prison buildings burned and the walls of the prison were endangered. Night came on and the lighting system was out of order, affording the best possible chance for escape. But not one prisoner even made so much as a demonstration. Instead, they went to work with a will, acting as firemen, and by their efforts some of the buildings were saved. A number of the convicts proved themselves real heroes. The time came when the honor system and methods of Warden Coddling were put to a severe test, and they stood the test admirably.

As one of the leading lawyers of his state, and as a capable business man, some time before this Mr. Coddling had been urged to take charge of the penitentiary for a few weeks until the governor could find some one to put in that place. Mr. Coddling has been there ever since and has made a record that has attracted attention all over the country. Under his management, the prisoners are given three square meals a day, instead of soup; they play ball every day after dinner and are made to feel that they are men, not criminals.

As special law enforcement attorney for the State Temperance union, Mr. Coddling did such thorough work that thirty-five law defying counties were forced to obey the law, and all but a dozen out of three hundred cases prosecuted resulted in victories for Coddling and his followers.

MANY CALLED FOOLS

Lecturer Shows Great Men Always Derided.

Dr. Watkins, Vice Presidential Candidate, to Speak Here During Chautauqua.

Those who hear the great lecture on "Fools and Failures" by Dr. Aaron S. Watkins at the Lincoln Chautauqua will not feel ashamed the next time their friends or neighbors ride.

AARON S. WATKINS.

One of his ideas, for the lawyer—minister—college president—lecturer shows clearly how the great achievements of the past ages have been possible only as their backers or authors have been willing to persevere in spite of the derision heaped upon them. Thousands have heard this and other popular lectures of Dr. Watkins and have had nothing but praises for them.

As an orator of national reputation, having spoken in nearly every state and before hundreds of Chautauques and Lyceum courses, and as a Vice Presidential Candidate in 1908 and again in 1912, Dr. Watkins has won a reputation as a keen logician and genial humorist. He is regarded as one of the most skillful debaters in America today. Everyone will want to hear the message of inspiration which this great man will bring.

W. C. T. U. CONVENTION

Fourth Annual County Meeting Held at Fishertown Last Week.

The Bedford County Woman's Christian Temperance Union held its fourth annual convention at Fishertown, June 12 and 13. The convention was attended by thirty-six delegates, representing fourteen local unions.

Five busy and instructive sessions were held. An interesting feature of Thursday's session was the able address of the County President, Miss L. D. Shuck, who spoke of the outlook for the county, and gave many helpful suggestions for the work.

The women had secured the services of Mrs. Addie Parsels, State Vice President of the W. C. T. U., and Miss Grace Hendricks, State Organizer of L. T. L. work, both of whom contributed largely to the success of the convention.

Miss Hendricks' subjects were Scientific Temperance Instruction and The Value of Work With the Children, and she thoroughly urged the use of Institutes of Methods by the county local unions. During the evening Miss Hendricks entertained the children with a delightfully rendered "Bear Story."

During this session, which was attended by an enthusiastic audience which filled the Hixite Meeting House to its utmost capacity, the Fishertown Local Temperance Union gave a splendid demonstration, consisting of a drill, with rally cries and songs.

Mrs. Parsels, who is now well known in the county, spoke several times in her usual stirring and forceful way on the legal side of the temperance question, and described conditions in Pennsylvania.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: County President, Miss L. D. Shuck of Bedford; Vice President, Mrs. John T. Matt of Everett; Corresponding Secretary, Miss Little V. Shires of Bedford; Recording Secretary, Mrs. A. B. Ross of Schellburg; Treasurer, Mrs. Annie Smith of Schellburg.

Resolutions Passed

After a preamble recognizing the hand of God in their work of the past year, resolutions were adopted. To take courage from victories won and that efforts be increased; to labor for the overthrow of the liquor traffic; to give special attention to department work bearing on Christian citizenship, that boys and girls may measure up to the full stature of manhood and womanhood; to advocate merciful treatment of dumb animals and the enforcement of humane laws; to commend Congress for the bill declaring the belief that states should provide for the enforcement of their own laws; to endorse the movement for nation-wide prohibition; to urge organizers to spend more time in organizing and equipping new Unions; to thank Mrs. Parsels and Miss Hendricks for their work and inspiration; to the Fishertown W. C. T. U. and all citizens of that community for welcome and entertainment, and to all others who contributed to the success of the convention; to send copies of resolutions for publication.

Alice went to church with her aunt one Sunday morning. The aunt gave the child a penny to put in the collection plate and then took another coin out of her pocketbook for her own use.

Alice leaned over toward her aunt and whispered:

"How much are you going to give, auntie?"

The aunt opened her hand and disclosed a silver dollar.

"Oh, auntie," exclaimed the little girl in great excitement, "don't you do it! It isn't worth it!"—Harper's Bazaar.

Advice For Campers

Before you start on your camping trip, if you have not already done so, paraffine your tent. There are very few, if any, tents that will not let in some dampness during a heavy rain, but if you paraffine yours, even if it is of the lightest material, it will shed every drop of water, and it will not mold when you fold it up.

To do this, first set up your tent in a sunny spot and let it dry thoroughly. If it is about a ten by twelve a pound of paraffine and a gallon of gasoline will do for one coat, and one will answer if evenly spread. Leave the gasoline at the tent while you melt the paraffine in a skillet in the house. When sizzling hot, take it out and pour into the gasoline. Apply instantly with either a sprayer or brush. And remember above all things you must not smoke or strike a match, or allow anyone around who does, while you are doing this job.—July Outing.

IMPERIAL BELL RINGERS.

ENGLISH village and rural life is producing some remarkable musical organizations. Many will recall the recent triumphal tour of the famous Welsh "Mountain Ash Choir." Here is another of England's famous workingmen's musical organizations, the "Imperial Bell Ringers." They come from Yorkshire, England, and are easily the peers of any organization attempting the difficult music of the bells. The organization is under the personal direction of Professor W. H. Giggie and can interpret not alone the more popular airs, but the most difficult classic numbers as well. This headliner attraction will appear at our local Chautauqua afternoon and evening of the final day.

Something for Everybody

Men's tastes differ as widely as their circumstances or personal appearance.

It is manfully impossible to build a Chautauqua program that will for each of the six days, give equal pleasure to the individual, or satisfy every one, old or young, rich or poor, learned or uneducated.

Our program will please some people all the time, most people most of the time and everybody some of the time. You will find it a high grade entertainment for high grade people.

We bring to your door the best there is to be had in this country or the world. The study of the scholar, the laboratory of the scientist, the forum of the statesman in America, England, France, Germany and the isles of the sea have been drawn upon for your entertainment and inspiration.

For your own future happiness and the well being of your children, you cannot afford to miss it.

LINCOLN CHAUTAUQUA ORCHESTRA.

In the Lincoln Chautauqua Orchestra all the elements necessary to success have been combined. Organized and personally trained by Professor Harrie L. Bland, the well known orchestra director, and touring under his special supervision. It will more than maintain the high reputation of the Bland companies. Every member of his organization is an artist selected because of special ability and character. The program will be varied and adapted to the diversified musical tastes of the most cosmopolitan audience. This will be one of the star attractions at our coming big Chautauqua.

ARBITRATION-ANNIHILATION.

Deacon Sweet exhorted often On the seventh beatitude, Telling us that Christians ought to "Make sweet peace where'er they could."

"It is our most solemn duty," cried this great peace advocate, "To make peace among the neighbors And their quarrels arbitrate."

Well, one day Mike Dooley's rooster Flew down into Muldoon's pen, Skinned alive his big red game cock And made splinters of a hen.

Then the Muldoons and the Dooleys Started an uproarious fight Just as our peace loving deacon Round the corner hove in sight.

Striding up to Bridget Muldoon And to Mary Dooley, too, He began to tell those scrappers That this fighting wouldn't do.

When, before he got his tale told, Bridget grabbed him by the hair, Mary, too, got on her muscle And the deacon's face did tear.

And that rooster of Mike Dooley's Jabbed him in the tender calf, While Pat Muldoon's yaller bulldog Tore his breeches most in half.

Now we'll draw the curtain kindly. To tell all would be a sin. Only let this tale remind you— In war or peace don't you butt in.

C. M. BARNITZ.

KURIOS FROM KORRESPONDENTS

Q. Which are the most popular farm breeds in this country? A. Plymouth Rocks, White Wyandottes and Rhode Island Reds.

Q. What per cent of the mash should be alfalfa or clover? A. Alfalfa or clover 8 to 10 per cent.

Q. What ails a hen when her egg is in the abdominal cavity instead of the oviduct? A. She has ruptured the oviduct. Overfat hens do this sometimes when straining to lay an egg.

Q. What is an early sign of indigestion among hens? A. When white tip of dropping turns yellow or loss of appetite.

Q. My six months old turkeys have something like rheumatism. They eat, but some cannot walk. What is wrong and what is the remedy? A. Your ration is too rich and too fattening and your turks lack exercise. Turn them on range, cut out corn and feed more greens and protein.

Q. What are good side lines with poultry that do not require much time? A. Fruit and bees.

Q. Why is it eggs from the same hen often differ in color? A. Because the hen does not secrete the same amount of pigment from her food every day.

FEATHERS AND EGGSHELLS.

When you buy an incubator follow the catalogue instructions. The manufacturer has tested the machine and found under what conditions it runs best, and it is very foolish to run counter to his advice.

In the cheap season you may be tempted to take eggs to the store, and some skinner who wants your thoroughbred eggs at a cheap price may go there and buy them, and soon he may have a flock of your stock and undersell you in the whole neighborhood. Now, to beat that fellow and make more money, advertise your eggs for hatching. Advertise them in your town and county paper, advertise them in the journals, and you'll come out ahead instead of being led.

You will be surprised at how much charcoal young and old stock eat if it is kept before them, and it will be reflected in their good health. Try it yourself for that brown taste.

A question often asked, Which is the best breed? might be answered to the satisfaction of the questioner if he just happens to buy the best strain of that best breed. But there are good, better, best and bad strains of Leghorns, Rocks, Dottes, Reds and, if the purchaser happens to get a bad strain, he is apt to condemn the breed in general and his informer in particular. It is seldom a man buys a strain that just suits him, but by careful selection he may build up a strain that in his estimation has no equal in the universe.

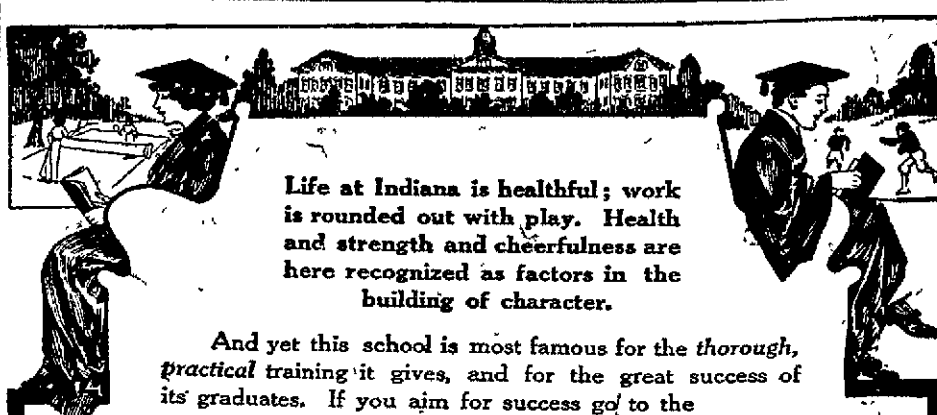

The amount of space given to the hen in the newspapers is one sign of the prominence poultry holds in the affairs of the people and another sign that many editors know that multitudes of their subscribers are raising poultry and want reliable information. There are some few editors haven't caught on yet, but maybe they will, unless Gabriel blows the last trumpet too soon.

When a man knows much about poultry he isn't telling it to every Tom, Dick and Harry he meets. He isn't a blowhard. His knowledge has cost him much and he isn't scattering it around promiscuously, but he does his part well when there is occasion for it. He is not known by the extent of his jaw wrangling, but by his work. He doesn't crow about himself, but his bounteous roosters and hens do the crowing and the cackling for him.

The Peking duck has waddled to the head of the quack procession because it is the best table duck produced at the lowest feed cost. It is easy to raise, grows the fastest, has the yellow carcass, the high priced white feathers, lays the earliest and lays a big delicious egg that hatches well and sells at a profitable price in the city market.

An alluring price often influences a fancier to sell the cream of his flock and thus cripple his business. Our very best birds are never for sale at any price. We have had men come and point out our best breeders and offer us a big bait, and we would not bite simply because our best are the foundation, and when the foundation, built up by years of toil and expense, is gone there's really nothing left.

North American's Gettysburg Supplement Fitting Memorial of Celebration.

The editor of this newspaper has been asked to look over the special Gettysburg Semicentennial Section of the Sunday North American for June 23. The section in appearance and contents bears out all statements that have been or can be made in its favor, and the Gettysburg section will be prized and preserved in every patriotic household.

The North American has devoted little of its space to the retelling of the story that great historians have told so well, but has undertaken to tell the human interest incidents of the great fight in a very human way. It has discovered new and retold old personal stories of Gettysburg in such a way that veteran warriors and the later generation of Americans will enjoy them.

Perhaps the biggest and best single feature of the section is entitled "A Guide's Story of Gettysburg," in which one of the battlefield guides, active today, recites the story of the fight as he tells it to visitors. A story of the drummer boys is thrilling and compelling of admiration for youthful valor. General David McMurtre Gregg, leader of the mounted soldiers in the battle, signs the article, "The Cavalry at Gettysburg." Over fifty photographs and a great number of drawings serve to emphasize the articles featured.

Enterprise worthy of The North American is shown in devoting eight pages to this special section, for not a line of advertising appears in it. It is a patriotic souvenir of a great historic event.

Woman Is As Old As She Looks

No woman wants to look old. Many in their effort to look youthful resort to the "beauty doctor's" prescriptions. Their mistake is that they visit the wrong department in the drug store. Beauty depends upon health.

Worry, sleepless nights, headaches, pains, disorders, irregularities and weaknesses of a distinctly feminine character in a short time bring the dull eye, the "crow's feet," the haggard look, drooping shoulders, and the faltering step.

To retain the appearance of youth you must retain health. Instead of lotions, powders and paints, ask your druggist for

DR. PIERCE'S Favorite Prescription

This famous medicine strikes at the very root of these enemies of your youthful appearance. It makes you not only look young, but feel young.

Your druggist can supply you in liquid or tablet form; send 50 cents—sent state to Dr. Pierce's Invalids Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N.Y., and trial box will be mailed you.

Lesson XII.—Second Quarter.
For June 22, 1913.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES

Text of the Lesson, Amos vi. 1-8
Memory Verses, 1, 8—Golden Text
Amos vi. 14—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

As I have often said in writing notes on a so called temperance lesson, it does seem as if those who choose the portions make very poor selections but we can thank them for a study in prophecy and will find much profit in a meditation upon Amos and his message. Temperance is self control and submission to God. All else is intemperance, and there is a kind in which wine and strong drink play no part. In Isa. xlix. 9. "They are drunken, but not with wine; they stagger, but not with strong drink." This is somewhat similar to the famine of Amos viii. 11 which has no reference to lack of bread or water, but to hearing the words of the Lord.

The first six verses of our lesson refer to self indulgence in the way of ease and pleasure and revelry and a reliance upon human help, with no thought of God except a mere form of worship, which was only a mockery and a provocation to the Lord. In the last two verses Jehovah says, "I abhor the excellency of Jacob and hate his palaces." In Ezek. xiv. 21, He says, "I will profane my sanctuary, the excellency of your strength, the desire of your eyes and that which your soul pitieth." They gloried in the fact that they were the chosen nation in their temple, their ritual, and they were somewhat diligent in the outward form but the heart was not right with God.

Leaven in Scripture is invariably suggestive of corruption, of evil, and He said, "Offer your sacrifices with leaven, for that is like you, so ye love to do" (Amos iv. 4, 5 and margin). Because of their evil hearts, and evil doings He could not tolerate their religiousness and said: "I hate, I despise your feast days. * * * Though ye offer Me burnt offerings, I will not accept them" (v. 21-23). A Nazirite was one willingly and wholly separated unto God and forbidden to touch wine or anything that came from the vine (Num. vi. 1-4), but He says, "Ye gave the Nazirites wine to drink."

A prophet was the Lord's messenger with the Lord's message (Hag. i. 13), but they commanded the prophets, saying, "Prophecy not" (Is. li. 12). In chapter i. 1, we read that Amos was a prophet in the days of Uzziah, king of Judah, and by comparing Isa. i. 1, we see that they were contemporary therefore we note in connection with what we have been saying Isa. i. 10 15; xxx. 13; xxx. 8-11, and other passages where God disdained their worship because it was all mere form and only from the mouth and because they would not hear His words nor do them. There is a searching question in Amos iii. 3. "Can two walk together except they be agreed?" Almost any one would answer, No. How, then, could Israel walk with God if they did not like His ways or want His words? How can any one walk with God to day if they will not accept Jesus as God, His supernatural birth, His death in our stead as the sinner's substitute, His literal resurrection from the dead, His ascension to heaven, where at the right hand of the Father He is our Great High Priest, and His coming again to set up His kingdom of peace on earth? What is the use of all so called temperance work, all effort to uplift the people, all religious work of any kind, if we are not agreed with God as to the necessity of a new birth, forgiveness of sins by the precious blood of Jesus Christ, salvation in His name, without whom there is no salvation?

Is it not all just as hateful to God as was the formality of Israel's religiousness in the days of the prophets, and also when the Lord Jesus was on earth, for He said it was just the same then, quoting the prophet's words in Matt. xv. 7-9? Another phase of their religiousness is seen in Amos viii. 4-6 keeping Sabbaths and new moons, but longing to have them over that they might buy and sell and cheat and oppress. What is the difference between them and those who today take their bodies to the house of God, but, while outwardly seeming to worship, their minds are on their business or their pleasures or worldly pursuits? Yet some of them may be somewhat active in some so called good work for the reformation of some class of sinners, which amounts to nothing if it lacks the only foundation of the finished work of Jesus Christ.

How few seem to be agreed with God in His plan for the bringing of the kingdom on this earth, when Jesus shall reign and the nations shall learn war no more! Yet all is plainly revealed in the prophets, for it is written in Amos iii. 7, "Surely the Lord God will do nothing, but He revealeth His secret unto His servants, the prophets." He has purposed to subdue this world unto Himself and fill it with His glory, not by present agencies or in this present evil age, but in the next age by a restored and redeemed Israel when He shall have fulfilled Amos ix. 14, 15, and all similar predictions. See Amos ix. 11, quoted in Acts xv. 16, in James at the great council at Jerusalem, when he briefly outlines God's plan—first a people from all nations (the gathering of the church in this age), then the restoration of Israel and then the salvation of all nations.

Save Part of the Lime Bill

One of the most interesting experiments shown to the 1,500 farmers at State College recently was the side by side test of acre plats, showing how to get clover stands on clover sick land. Here is the detail of what we saw:

Acre No. 1—Treatment, nothing; result, clover failure.

Acre No. 2—Treatment, 1,000 lbs stone lime; result, splendid clover.

Acre No. 3—Treatment, 150 lbs. acid phosphate; result, clover failure.

Acre No. 4—Treatment, lime as in No. 2 and 250 lbs. phosphate; result, same as in No. 2.

Acre No. 5—Treatment, nothing; result, clover failure.

Most of us use from 50 bushels per acre up; and the cost is from $4 up at the kiln. Then we ought to add from $3 to $4 per acre for hauling and spreading; and the spreading by hand is the meanest job on earth.

Our drills will spread 1,000 pounds air-slaked lime per acre; and we can hang burlap sacks back of the hose to take up the dust. This saves three-fourths of the lime bill and cuts out a mean piece of work.

On very poor land we have been using about 1,000 pounds of lime at oats and wheat seedings, making a ton in the two applications (12 to 14 bushels of stone lime, air-slaked). We have found that most of the land that has been out of grass and has washed and packed will give returns that justify the two applications, but more is not needed.

Recently I heard several farmers discussing this lime matter, and some of them inclined to 75 to 100 bushels in preference to the smaller quantities. Now, as a matter of fact the movement of the soil water will wash out all the lime from fields worked in the rotation before the end of the seventh year; and it is quite evident that what we really want is not the heavy applications at once, but lighter applications made oftener. And these applications give the best returns when made in time to do their work with the legumes, field peas, soy beans, clover, alfalfa, etc.

Of course it is not particularly healthy for the drill to use it for spreading lime; but better save the farm than the drill.

How many crops of clover, such as was shown at State College, would it take to buy a new drill if you were one out with lime? Or, how long would it take to pay for the little damage to the drill out of the money saved on the lime bill?

In this district we have had splendid results from single and double applications of lime through the drill. We have also had splendid results from inoculating the clover seed, thereby imparting fresh vigor and foraging power to the plant. But, in the long run, inoculation is not going to take the place of lime. And, anyway, why not combine the liming and inoculation and thereby get the very best results with the least expenditure of money needed for other purposes?

A. B. Ross,
Assistant Agriculturist.

Settled

"At last, Henry, the question of votes for women is to be submitted to the people."

"So I see."

"Henry, you will admit that women are as intelligent as the men."

"Freely I admit that."

"And that as women pay taxes, they ought to have a say as to how their money is to be spent."

"That seems reasonable. But let us discuss the question. I earn the money we have, don't I?"

"Yes."

"But do I have any voice in how that money is to be spent?"

A few minutes later he put on his hat and coat and left the house, regretting that he had given that twist to the argument. — Detroit Free Press.

Clarke-Walker Company Again
In the Field.

Talented Artists Carried Off Honors
Last Summer at the Big Chautauquas.

The old adage about birds of a feather flocking together was surely illustrated in the formation of the Clarke-Walker Company a year or so ago. Mr. C. Edward Clarke, as soloist, ranking among the very best in Chicago, Miss Sadie L. Walker, whose phenomenal playing on the violin had won for her the praise of Europe's greatest masters, and Miss

C. EDWARD CLARKE.

Hawkins, a pianist of unusual ability—this happy combination made a trio hard to equal.

During the past two summers, Mr. Clarke has proven one of the most popular musical attractions on hundreds of large Chautauqua programs. Musical people quickly recognize Mr. Clarke as a true artist of unusual ability. The saying that a prophet is without honor in his own country does not apply in his case, for the conservative Chicago newspapers praise his work highly.

Miss Walker is undoubtedly without a peer as an American Chautauqua violinist. Her several years study abroad and her wonderful talent and superb playing make her indeed an artist. She is the teacher of violin at the University of Chicago. She has frequently received as high as one hundred dollars for a single concert, and audiences have simply refused to let her stop playing, until she was exhausted. With the first few notes, the audience realizes that they are in the presence of an unusual artist—a master of the violin.

HAS WONDERFUL VOICE

University of Chicago Soloist
Creates Sensation.

Albert C. Lindquest, Promising Young
Tenor, Sought by Grand Opera Stars.

Albert C. Lindquest, the young Swedish tenor who was last year soloist of the University of Chicago chorus, and also prominent church soloist, is one prophet who is honored in his own country. The people of a large city, having access to concerts and theaters where the best singers of the world appear, are

A. C. Lindquest, not easily carried away by a singer. But all over the City of Chicago, wherever he has been heard, Mr. Lindquest's voice has made a profound impression.

Grand opera stars, while in the city, have heard him sing, and the city authorities have made use of his talents by securing him as a soloist at some of the great open air concerts where thousands gather at the parks or social centers to hear the free concerts. During the month of May he sang twice daily in the Auditorium as the leading tenor in the Pageant of Darkness and Light.

Mr. Lindquest appeared at a few chautauquas in southern Illinois last season and his singing so captivated the people that they were unwilling to let his part of the program stop but encored him again and again. He is a member of the Musical Art Society, limited to forty members, and that honor alone ranks him as one of the best singers in this section. Mr. Lindquest will be one of the attractions at the coming Chautauqua. He will be accompanied by Ernest Zeshiel, a pianist whose work has been admired by hundreds of audiences in many states on the Chautauqua platform and on the concert stage.

Think What He Missed!

A ring at the telephone drew the office boy.

"Lady to talk to you, sir" he said to the senior partner.

The senior partner took up the receiver and stood at the phone for several minutes.

Then he laid the receiver down and went back to his desk.

Twenty minutes later he raised the receiver, said a few words and presently hung it up.

Then he turned to his partner.

"It was my wife," he explained.

"She was still talking and hadn't missed me."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.
